Dear Joshua

I should like you to know that after ten years as Chief of the Division of Plant Industry, I am about to relinquish this post and join the Executive of CSIRO.

My personal scientific work and my association with the genetics group in Canberra will continue as before. I am retaining my small group of personal associates, with whom I expect to conclude within the next two years a series of papers on the genetics and evolution of flower morphogenesis in Triticum.

I therefore hope that you will continue sending me reprints which, as previously, will be available to the whole genetics group; and that our friendly contacts in other ways will remain. While my office will change to Melbourne, my laboratory remains in Canberra, so that the address for reprints and correspondence remains unchanged.

Becoming even more of an administrator is a real heartbreak that one has to bear for getting really old.

Yours ever
O.H.
